Crown Hall
Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, architect
1950-56

This defining structure of 20th-century architecture is one of the masterpieces of this world renowned architect. Designed to house the Illinois Institute of Technology's departments of architecture, planning, and design, the building's dramatic form results in an open interior space adaptable for changing needs and uses. Instead of interior columns, the roof is hung from exposed steel trusses bridging the depth of the building. It was named for S. R. Crown, a co-founder of the Material Service Corporation.

Designated on October 1, 1997
Richard M. Daley, Mayor
